ALLEGED FORGER SAID TO HAVE BEEN OPERATING HERE

Tried To Pass Checks In Business Houses of Charleroi.

WELL DRESSED STRANGER

Drawn On Peoples Bank Of California For Small Amount.

An alleged forger is said to have been going the rounds of a number of stores and hotels in Charleroi, and trying to pass bogus checks. Three places he entered and tried to have checks cashed were the Wellington Hotel, Piper Bros., and Adolph Beigel's Sample Shoe Store. In each place payment was refused, because of the man being an entire stranger, and the suspicious looks of the thing.

The checks which he tried to pass were small in denomination, not one being over ten dollars, and were drawn on the People's National Bank of California.

The man is described as being well built, about 5 feet 10 inches in height, being dressed in a brown striped suit. He seemed to be very intelligent and might be taken for a college graduate. He was young, probably 37 years of age.

What is thought to have been the same man, worked a scheme on a boarding mistress on Meadow avenue which netted him a nice sum. In the afternoon when there was no one around excepting the lady herself, a man appeared and knocked. When the mistress opened the door he asked to rent a room. He was already in the house, and after a short conversation he might be seen in the room, but he was not to be seen. He went up stairs to do his business and the woman granted the rent. He was spending several dollars, and the woman, appearing below, was profusely thanking the man. He left the house. It was discovered soon after that trunks had been rifled and considerable money stolen. The description fits perfectly the one who is charged with trying to pass the forged checks.

SURETY OF PEACE CASE BEFORE JUDGE TAYLOR

Several surety of the peace cases were heard before Judge Taylor yesterday. Almost all were of a most trivial nature. Saul Simms, of Charleroi, admitted the charge of having made threats against one Daniel Little. He denied that he had threatened to kill him. The court warned him against admitting any offense of which he might not be guilty, in order to just get out of staying in jail awhile. Simms said he had not intended to do Little any harm.

SUITS RESULTING FROM DISASTER AT DARR MINES

Fifteen suits asking an aggregate of over $700,000 damages was filed in the United States Circuit Court against the Pittsburgh Coal Company. The plaintiffs are the relatives of the victims of the Darr mine disaster at Jacobs Creek, December 19 last, when more than two hundred miners lost their lives. All the statements filed are practically the same, and allege that the explosion was due to the negligence on the part of the coal company. This takes a total of 33 suits growing out of the Darr Disaster.

Half of the Pleasure.

The youngest girl of a Baltimore family was recently much distressed at dessert to discover that there was ice cream for dinner.

"Oh, papa," exclaimed the youngster reproachfully, "why didn't they tell me this morning that we were going to have ice cream?"

"What difference would that have made?"

"Lots!" sighed the child. "I could have expected it all day."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Wanted a Rusher.

"What did the new neighbors come to borrow now?"

"They wanted the lawn mower."

"Is that all?"

"That was all they spoke about, but I think from the way they stood around they would like to have borrowed my husband to run it."—Nashville American.

Social. A social will be held in the basement of the United Brethren church at Vesta on Monday Night.

GRAFTON LANDS ON THE HORSEHIDE

Cherubs Have Many Chances To Score With The Usual Result.

Grafton 2, Charleroi 1.

While the above score looks like a battle royal the game in reality was far from it, in as much as just when they needed runs enough to win the game the Grafton outfit landed on the leather and chased the runs over. On the other hand, Charleroi had enough opportunities to win a dozen ball games but threw them aside in a reckless manner, the majority of times the batter taking his three healthy swings at the ball, when a little tap would have resulted in a run. Especially was this condition of affairs noticeable in the last two rounds. In the eighth with one down, Cosgrove landed on second by a good healthy drive, but he died on the sack as the best that Dunn could produce was an easy one to Ferguson who threw him out at first. Another chance remained however in O'Hare, but it was short lived as he took three healthy swings at three wide ones, presumably to end the suspense of the fans. In the ninth inning a hit meant the game. Osborne took Toohey's place at bat and played the game by beating out an infield drive. Dailey made two on with a base on balls. Practically any kind of a drive would have advanced the men, but instead a strikeout was produced by Heinz. Houser hit to short and forced Osborne at third and Bert Humphries looked them over for a walk. But one chance remained and it fell to Nally to produce the goods. But in this case of dire want Nally wasn't there, and fanned. The only time that Charleroi's score was in the second inning and it happened something like this: After Toohey had died from third to first, James in right dropped Dailey's drive, George taking second on Heinz' out. Houser then picked one out for two bags and Dailey counted. Grafton did not score until the eighth inning and then after one had gone the wayward. With Ball dead, James and King singled. Ganier tried for a safe one but Toohey pulled it in. Jimmie Ferguson, who by the way was boosting his batting average, picked one off the tree for three bases and the damage, that could not be repaired was done. Score:

Monessen Negro Shoots Man Who Refuses To Comply With Order.

Paul Rapp, of Monessen, colored, is being held for court under $500 bail on a charge of felonious shooting. Last night when Rapp was visiting at the home of Mrs. George Selling in Monessen, Adam Egbert appeared and desired admittance. He was refused and he became a little boisterous and was finally ordered away by Rapp, who upon the other's refusal to go, shot at him. Seven were arrested in connection with the affair, Rapp being charged with the most serious offense. The others were sentenced to serve thirty days in jail. Mrs. Selling who was understood to be running a disorderly house was warned to be exceedingly careful hereafter as to her conduct.

IMPROVEMENTS BEING MADE AT CATSBURG

E. F. Osler, chief engineer for the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company, was at Catsburg yesterday and located a new tippie at the Catsburg mine which will accommodate both the river and railroad. Work will be started at once to remove the old tippie and to erect the new one.

The tippie to be built will be one of the best along the river, and will be fitted throughout with electric equipment. The Pates steam pump will be installed. The tippie will have a large capacity for the disposal of coal and it is understood that the output of the mine will be increased greatly.

The Catsburg tippie has been in bad condition for a number of years and the mine has not been making much of a run as a result. The tippie mine which was fired several years ago and has not been in operation for the past two years will also be set in running order again from the Catsburg entrance. The coal will be taken out over the new tippie. Since the tippie mine was fired it has been considered dangerous and the entries will be run from the Catsburg mine to the rear of where the fire occurred in the tippie mine.

Juvenile Court Directs That Charleroi Boys Go To Protectors.

Jacob Girard and George DeMarco, aged 13, leaders of the "Dirty Dozen" band of youthful marauders which has been terrorizing the citizens of Charleroi and other river towns, was arranged before Judge J. E. Taylor in juvenile court yesterday. They were charged with having entered the home of Jules Reckless, Shady avenue on June 22, and broken up household goods to the value of $500.

Girard and DeMarco, when arranged in court appeared to have lost their bravado, and Judge Taylor took occasion to give them a lecture in a kindly manner, impressing upon them the seriousness of their crime. They were ordered sent to the St. Joseph Protectors, Pittsburgh.

Wharfbot May be Changed.

The wharfbot of the Monongahela packet line at Fairmont has been placed on the ways at Elizabeth and is being thoroughly overhauled, and will be repainted when it comes off the ways. It is not certain that it will be returned to Fairmont, but may be changed to Charleroi.

WANT TO LOCATE FACTORY TO MAKE NEW HORSESHOES

A party of Pittsburgh capitalists were in Monongahela recently looking for a location for a manufacturing site. They were met by a representative of the Board of Trade and shown several locations.

The concern have secured a patent on a new device for making horseshoes and have decided to place the goods on the market and are looking for a location to manufacture the same. The gentlemen stated that if a location could be secured there and satisfactory arrangements made it would mean employment for about two hundred men.

The same company of men were looking over Charleroi very recently with a view of locating here.

LARGE JUDGEMENT IN COAL CASE

Trustees Must Sell Land And Steamers At Public Auction

An order for the largest judgment ever entered by the Washington county court was made yesterday by Judge J. A. McIlvaine in the case of the New York Trust Company, trustee, against C. Jutte and Co. and F. N. Hoffstad.

The defendant defaulted in a mortgage of $1,000,000 with instalments of interest due on April 1, 1906, as well as two instalments subsequently maturing and including the instalment of April 1, 1908. A hearing in the case was held yesterday, the defendant admitting the default and agreeing to the decree of the court for judgment in the entire amount specified in the mortgage, with interest.

The court directs the trustee to sell at public auction, in whole or in parcels, the land covered by the mortgage, also the steamers G. W. Thomas, Gleanor, Crescent and Charley Jutte, besides 2,000 shares of the Marine coal company. The land includes about 2,300 acres of coal lands in East and West Pike Run townships and Beallsville borough. The date set for the sale is September 1, next. The mortgage was given by the Jutte company to secure $1,600,000 issues of bonds. It was executed June 9, 1902.

TIN CANS TO BE MANUFACTURED AT MONESSEN

A story comes from U. S. Steel corporations circles in Pittsburgh, to effect that a can manufacturing plant is to be erected by the company immediately back of the tin plate mill in Monessen. A building covering about half the floor space of the large hot mill building is said to be contemplated.

The U. S. Steel corporation is adopting the policy of manufacturing tin cans in connection with the large tin plate plants in order to use up surplus stock and to insure the steady running of the plants. One has been erected at New Castle and the next is projected for Monessen.

It is likely that from 300 to 500 will be employed by such an addition to the present plant. While they would be mostly boys and girls the wages paid is said to be good. The cans for fruit canning purposes are made almost entirely by machinery, but many operators, sorters, packers, etc. will be required.

Almost since the erection of the Monessen plant 10 years ago the ground backing has been used as a dump with a view of filling it in for a mill site. But not until recently was a can manufacturing plant thought of. That is what the site will undoubtedly contain in the very near future.

Needs of City Life.

President Roosevelt's letter on American rural life, addressed to Professor L. H. Bailey, the chairman of the newly appointed commission on this subject, suggests some things which were manifestly not in his thoughts while he was dictating it.
One of these the most obvious, is that the farmer and the farm laborer, whom the commission is designed to help, are far less in need of help than many workers of the city. The president himself says that "the farmers in general are better off today than they ever were before." Can this be said of the typical city worker?

The farmer is not asking investigation and advice as to his social and economic condition. He, of all classes in America, is not most likely to resent as impertinent anything which seems to reflect upon his sufficiency in the role that he endeavors with all the might of his commonsense and his muscle, to fill.

No power of direct help to the farmer of the kind suggested in the president's letter reside in the nation;
all government. Of course the commission can inquire and can report information. But whether what it states is warranted by what will come out of it is doubtful. There are other directions in which inquiry would probably be much more useful.

The growth of cities, wonderful as it is, is not going to abate. Forethought for city life must take this into account. It is absolutely necessary that the poor shall be less crowded in the city of the future, or rather the city of today; that they shall have more space about their dwellings; that there shall be broader streets, more "breathing" places, perfumed by flowers and cooled by fountains, and that there shall be abundant playgrounds for the children.
These needs are at once unmistakable
and urgent.

The Exploitation of Thaw.

Eminent statesmen and jurists who condemn the law's delays and the hardships to which the poor litigant is sometimes subjected will find food for reflection in the cost of the Thaw trial not only to the city of New York, but to the defendant in that celebrated case. This man's life was saved, but at a tremendous outlay of money, says the Baltimore Sun. He is now resorting to bankruptcy proceedings to avoid the payment of certain sums.
It is stated that his family has already spent $800,000 and that additional demands are now made for $400,000. From all accounts Thaw has been thoroughly exploited. To a man in the shadow of a death chair money has no value. He would, unless he is made of very stern stuff, eagerly part with all his earthly possessions to save himself from the extreme penalty of the law. But this fight for life seems to have been conducted on a very mercenary basis.
The one figure in the trial which inspired untailing respect and sympathy was the mother of the defendant. As for the rest, the spectacular melodramatic element predominated. The taxpayers of New York city have paid an enormous sum to assert the majesty of the law. The defendant has escaped the electric chair, but at a money cost which is staggering.
Here is a matter to which commentators on defects in jurisprudence might properly turn their attention.

Sankey Dead.

The loss of Ira D. Sankey, known far and wide as "the singing evangelist," is today being mourned by thousands, yes, millions of people.
Sankey wrote perhaps more hymns than any other man in the United States, and they are used in practically every church in the Union. He has done good seldom surpassed on this continent, and others as well, his influence being universally felt.

Jefferson Davis' Ambition.

Jefferson Davis was a man of most sincere conviction and courageous action, and when the Southern Confederacy was about to be organized his single ambition was the command of the Confederate army. This I had from his own lips at his residence at Beauvoir, Miss., some fifteen years after the war. He told me that when he started for Montgomery, Ala., when the movement began for the organization of the Confederacy he hoped to be called to the command of the army, but before he reached Montgomery he was advised of his election as pro-visionary president. When he reached the new capital of the Confederacy
he found it impossible to change conditions, and he was compelled to accept the presidency, and he entered upon that duty as conscientiously as any public man ever entered upon an official career.—Colonel A. K. McClure
in "Confederate Veterans."

A Yoga Story.

For fourteen years Bava Luchman
Dass received from the priests of the Black Caves of central India the necessary education in order to become a yogi, as a yoga must be capable of taking the forty-eight postures of the Hindoo idols. Perhaps the greatest trick consists in balancing himself on the ends of his fingers while the whole of his body is in the air. Bava stated that in order to obtain the rank of yogi in the Black Caves of India he had to continue in this position on the ends of his fingers under the eyes of the judges, without a second's interval, for seven days and nights!—Strand Magazine.

Low Necked Dresses.

In the early days of Pennsylvania
there was a law, as we learn from documents in the state department, which stated as follows: "That if any white female of ten years or upward should appear in any public street, lane, highway, church, courthouse, tavern, hall, theater or any other place of public resort with naked shoulders
—i. e., low necked dresses—being able to purchase necessary clothing, she shall forfeit and pay a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $200."

Among the Exchanges

Another One.

John W. Sarver tendered his resignation to Governor Stuart, on Monday as Alderman in the First ward of Monongahela. The matter was acted on honorably, and yesterday he was licensed as a detective in Allegheny county. Sarver was elected Alderman at the February election 1907, defeating Ernest A. Foster by one vote. The election was contested and Sarver was declared regularly elected by three votes. His commission was issued
May 6, 1907, and ends May 6, 1912.
There are several aspirants for the vacancy among whom are mentioned
W. T. Gregg and John H. Wiper.
Mr. Sarver is in Pittsburgh today taking out his commission. He will likely have an office at the rear end of the river bridge. He will look after the interests of several manufacturing firms, also some of the mines.—Monongahela Times.

The Governor and Good Roads.

If it be true that Governor Stuart will forego a vacation this summer because of the demands of public affairs, the fact will not surprise those who know the man and the zest with which he pursues whatever he has in view. He has expressed broad and statesmanlike ideas on many of the questions with which the Commonwealth is confronted. One of these is that of good roads.

His speech at Cape May on the subject in June, laying particular emphasis upon the need of a fine macadam highway from end to end of the State, wide enough for both automobile traffic and the local use of the farmers, was practical as well as enthusiastic. He believes that the time is near when the hauling of farm products to the most convenient market will be largely done with motor trucks
and that the old time local commerce, which built up corenty seats and town centres and encouraged exchanges of values near the farm self, is in a fair way to have a reawakening since the trolley and the motor-car have been so successfully developed.

Every moment for better highways deserves to be commended. It is to the rural communities that the nation must look for the solid foundation of its property. Too little attention has been given to the economic significance of good roads.—Exchange.

DOWNWARD COURSE

Fast Being Realized by Charle- roi People.

A little backache at first.
Daily increasing till the back is lame
and weak.
Urinary disorders quickly follow;
Diabetes and finally Bright's disease.
This is the downward course of kidney ills.
Richard Young, retired, living in Youngstown, Canonsburg, Pa., says:
"I suffered for a number of years with attacks of backache always more severe if I contracted a cold. These backaches were caused by a disordered condition of my kidneys and I was caused much annoyance in consequence.
I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. In a very short time my kidneys were restored to perfect health and the backache banished.
I gave a statement for publication some

A Queer Practice.

A queer practice which is general throughout all the tribes of Australia is the rubbing of the skin. When the children are still young long cuts are made across the chest, down the upper arm and leg and even across the back and ribs. While the wound is quite fresh the cut is opened and a mixture of mud is grafted in, the skin being pulled as far as possible over it. The skin eventually grows completely round the mud filling and forms ridges varying in length and size from an ordinary lead pencil to the thickness of a man's little finger and extending from armpit to armpit. I am informed that while the healing process is going on the pain is exquisite, but the result seems to satisfy all parties concerned.--London Standard.

The Brave Butterfly.

Here is an unorthodox story of King Solomon: One day a butterfly sat on the king's temple and boasted to his wife. "If I chose I could lift my wing and shiver this building to the ground," he swaggered. Solomon, overhearing, sent for the boaster. "How dare you?" he thundered. The butterfly groveled. "I did it to impress my wife," he pleaded. The great monarch was instantly appeased and let him go. "What did Solomon say to you?" gasped a quivering wife five minutes later. "Oh, he begged me not to do it," said the butterfly airily. And Solomon, again overhearing, smiled.--Chicago News.

Wifely Curiosity.

"Henry, dear, I tried on a suit of your clothes the other day, and it fitted me to perfection."

"May I ask your object in taking such a liberty with my garments?"

"Why, Belle Greene said she heard Tommy Tolliver say that you wasn't much bigger than a shrimp, and I was just wondering how big a shrimp is."--Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Reins.

Stella--When people go to the country they leave the cats behind.

Bella--Then where do all those on the hotel piazzas come from?--New York Sun.

Where He Went.

A bore who asked, "Isn't it cold?"

Was finally shot.

And now he's exclaiming, we're told: "Whew! Isn't it hot?"--Philadelphia Press.

Information Wanted.

Short--I can't pay you for a few weeks yet. I lost a lot of money recently in speculating.

Long--Indeed! Whose was it?--Chicago News.

Same Old Story.

The melancholy days have come when in exchange for plunks the toeman hands his product out in the smallest kind of chunks.

--St. Louis Republic.

Same Thing.

"Miss Bloomer seems to keep her youth still," remarked Miss Goods.

"Well," replied Miss Chellum, "she keeps her age quiet."--Broadway Magazine.

The Mule's Delusion.

The pack mule is quite as much an institution as the team mule and is absolutely indispensable in the mountains. Mule packing is a fine art, and with a well trained animal and a skillful packer you can safely transport anything from a piano to a bag of oats. When the packer has finished his job in an artistic manner, the animal may buck or back, kick or rear or roll, but he cannot rid himself of his burden, and he finally gives it up in despair. After two or three experiences he will submit to his destiny and fall into line with the rest of the train every morning to receive his load from the packer. A well trained pack mule is always proud of his load, and if by any means it gets loose he will step quietly out of line and wait until the packmaster comes along to tighten it.

The most serious objection to the mule, which you sometimes find in human beings also, is the delusion that he can sing. One who has never heard a mule solo cannot appreciate the extent of his mistake; but, like everything else about a mule, his song is strictly original. It belongs to no other animal. No one can describe and no one can imitate it.--New York Mail.

Mixed Pickles.

Bishop Knox once explained that "Mr. McKenna's sword was an overloaded pistol which, being hung up in a tight corner lest it should burst, pretended to be dead until it got up and trotted home on the friendly back of the bishop of St. Asaph." But it is in political debate, especially in the house of commons, that the mixed metaphor flourishes most luxuriantly. "The floodgates of irreligion and intemperance are stalking arm in arm throughout the land." "This bill effects such a change that the last leap in the dark was a mere den bite." "That is the marrow of the educational act, and it will not be taken out by Dr. Clifford or anybody else. It is founded on a granite foundation and speaks in a voice not to be drowned in sectarian clamor." "The question of moisture in tobacco is a thorny subject and has long been a bone of contention."--Manchester Guardian.

A Chinese Superstition.

When a Chinese baby takes a nap people think its soul is having a rest--going out for a long walk perhaps. If the nap is a very long one the mother is frightened. She is afraid that her baby's soul has wandered too far away and cannot find its way home. If it doesn't come back, of course the baby will never awaken. Sometimes men are sent out into the streets to call the baby's name over and over again, as though it were a real child lost. They hope to lead the soul back home. If a baby sleeps while it is being carried from one place to another the danger of losing the soul along the way is very great. So whoever carries the little one keeps saying its name out loud, so that the soul will not stray away. They think of the soul as a bird hopping along after them.

A Fox's Stratagem.

A fox is bound to be a thief whenever he has half a chance to steal, says London Answers. He can no more help taking a goose than a badly trained cat can help taking a chop from the larder. There was a tame fox that was chained in a yard to keep him out of mischief, but he soon hit upon a plan for seizing a stray duck or fowl. At the very farthest point to which his chain would reach he used to place a portion of his food and then hide himself in his kennel. In due course a silly chicken was sure to spy the bait and begin pecking at it. Before it had had time to enjoy its meal, however, the fox would pounce upon it and the stock of poultry be reduced by one.

When Not to Smoke.

It is quite certain that much may be done to diminish the risk of tobacco amblyopia by paying attention to certain points of personal hygiene. For instance, a rule should be made never to smoke upon an empty stomach, but as far as possible only after meals. It is absolutely bad to smoke before dinner and equally bad to smoke late at night to keep awake at one's work. It should also be forbidden to chew the cigar between the teeth, as many smokers are wont to do.--Hospital.

The Slippery Pronoun.

Many are the circumlocutions which have been devised by civilized races in order to avoid the bluntness of direct address. In fact, it may be said that at the moment when a nation standardizes its language it begins to have trouble with its pronouns.

"Thou" has of course become obsolete except in prayer, although it flourishes colloquially in the north of England. The second person plural is substituted. In parts of the south "you all" is heard, a further step toward refined elusiveness.

In France and Germany "thou" has been retained in familiar or semiconfidential speech. In Spain and Italy, on the other hand, the third person is substituted habitually in place of it.--Harper's Weekly.

Touched.

Mrs. Homespun--The comic papers say you fellows never work. Weary Waffles--Yes'm; de comic papers also say dat mother-in-laws is a nuisance when everybody knows dat dey are de most sweetest an' angelic uv mortals. an'-- Mrs. Homespun--You poor, dear man! Come right in this minute. I will broil a chicken for you.--Judge.

Her Compliment.

"Uncle Jehosaphat, I'm goin' to name my kitten after you."

"Well, well, that is nice of you"--

"Oh, it's all right. Mother says I've got to drown the thing anyhow."--Illustrated Bits.

ADVERTISEMENTS, SALE RUSH, CROWD, BARGAINS

Does it pay to advertise? Well, if anyone has the least doubt of the above they need only to refer to the big sale being conducted by Kirk
and Clark at the store formerly occupied by M. Wells. From long before the hour of opening this morning crowds were in front of the store awaiting until the time when they could rush in and snap up bargains at unprecedented prices. The store was packed all morning and afternoon.
Two times this morning the doors had to be closed to keep back the crowd.
As many clerks as there are more are needed to accommodate the crowd.

ALLEGED FORGER SAID TO HAVE BEEN OPERATING HERE

Tried To Pass Checks In Business Houses of Charleroi.

Drawn On Peoples Bank Of California For Small Amount.

An alleged forger is said to have been going the rounds of a number of stores and hotels in Charleroi, and trying to pass bogus checks. Three places he entered and tried to have checks cashed were the Wellington Hotel, Piper Bros., and Adolph Beige's Sample Shoe Store. In each place payment was refused, because of the man being an entire stranger, and the suspicious looks of the thing.

The checks which he tried to pass were small in denomination, not one being over ten dollars, and were drawn on the People's National Bank of California.

The man is described as being well built, about 5 feet 10 inches in height, being dressed in a brown striped suit. He seemed to be very intelligent and might be taken for a college graduate. He was young, probably 27 years of age.

What is thought to have been the same man, worked a scheme on a boarding mistress on Meadow avenue which netted him a nice sum. In the afternoon when there was no one around excepting the lady herself, a man appeared and knocked. When the boarding mistress responded, he desired to rent a room. He was in a hurry and was already in a room, and after a short time he might be seen in the room. He was in a hurry and was already in a room, and after a short time he might be seen in the room.

Several surety of the peace cases were heard before Judge Taylor yesterday. Almost all were of a most trivial nature. Saul Simms, of Charleroi, admitted the charge of having made threats against one Daniel Little. Denied that he had threatened to kill him. The court warned him against admitting any offense of which he might not be guilty, in order to just get out of staying in jail awhile. Simms said he had not intended to do Little any harm.

SUITS RESULTING FROM DISASTER AT DARR MINES

Fifteen suits asking an aggregate of over $700,000 damages was filed in the United States Circuit Court against the Pittsburg Coal Company. The plaintiffs are the relatives of the victims of the Darr mine disaster at Jacobs Creek, December 19 last, when more than two hundred miners lost their lives. All the statements filed are practically the same, and allege that the explosion was due to the negligence on the part of the coal company. This takes a total of 35 suits growing out of the Darr Disaster.

Half of the Pleasure.

The youngest girl of a Baltimore family was recently much distressed at dessert to discover that there was ice cream for dinner. "Oh, papa," exclaimed the youngster reproachfully, "why didn't they tell me this morning that we were going to have ice cream?"

"What difference would that have made?"

"Lore," sighed the child. "I could have expected it all day."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Wanted a Pusher.

"What did the new neighbors come to borrow now?"

"They wanted the lawn mower."

"Is that all?"

"That was all they spoke about, but I think from the way they stood around they would like to have borrowed my husband to run it."—Nashville American.

Social.

A social will be held in the basement of the United Brethren church at Vesta on Monday Night.

GRAFTON LANDS ON THE HORSEHIDE

Cherubs Have Many Chances To Score With The Usual Result.

Grafton 2, Charleroi 1. While the above score looks like a battle royal the game in reality was a mere child's play. The Grafton team needed runs enough to win the game the Grafton outfit landed on the leather and chased the runs over. On the other hand, Charleroi had enough opportunities to win a dozen ball games but threw them aside in a reckless manner, the majority of times the better taking his three healthy swings at the ball, when a little tap would have resulted in a run. Especially was this condition of affairs noticeable in the last two rounds. In the eighth with one down, Cosgrove landed on second by a good healthy drive, but he died on the sack as the best that Dunn could produce was an easy one to Ferguson who threw him out at first. Another chance remained however in O'Hara, but it was short lived as he took three healthy swings at three wide ones, presumably to end the suspense of the fans. In the ninth inning a hit meant the game. Osborne took Tooley's place at bat and played the game by beating out an infield drive. Dailey made two on with a base on balls. Practically any kind of a drive would have advanced the men, but instead a strikeout was produced by Heinz. Houser hit to short and forced Osborne at third and Bert Humphries looked them over for a walk. But one chance remained and it fell to Nally to produce the goods. But in this case of dire want Nally wasn't there and fanned. The only time that Charleroi disfigured the score board was in the second inning; and it happened something like this: After Tooley had died from third to first, James in right dropped Dailey's drive, George taking second on Heinz' out. Houser then picked one out for two bags and Dailey counted. Grafton did not score until the eighth inning and then after one had gone the wayward. With Bail dead, James and King singled. Ganier tried for a safe one but Tooley pulled it in. Jimmie Ferguson, who by the way was boosting his batting average, picked one off the tree for three bases and the damage, that could not be repaired was done. Score:

S. F. Osler, chief engineer for the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company, was at Catsburg yesterday and located a new tippie at the Catsburg mine which will accommodate both the river and railroad trade. Work will be started as soon to remove the old tippie and to erect the new one.

The tippie to be built will be one of the best along the river and will be fitted throughout with electric equipment. The Pates steam pump will be installed. The tippie will have a large capacity for the disposal of coal and it is understood that the output of the mine will be increased greatly.

The Catsburg tippie has been in bad condition for a number of years and the mine has not been making much of a run as a result. The tippie which was fired several years ago and has not been in operation for the past two years will also be set in running order again from the Catsburg entrance. The coal will be taken out over the new tippie. Since the tippie was fired it has been considered dangerous and the entries will be run from the Catsburg mine to the rear of where the fire occurred in the old mine.

F. Taylor in juvenile court yesterday. They were charged with having entered the home of Jules Reckless, Shady avenue on June 22 and broken up household goods to the value of $500.

Girard and DeMarco, when arraigned in court appeared to have lost their bravado, and Judge Taylor took occasion to give them a lecture in a kindly manner, impressing upon them the seriousness of their crime. They were ordered sent to the St. Joseph Protectory, Pittsburg.

A party of Pittsburg capitalists were in Monongahela recently looking for a location for a manufacturing site. They were met by a representative of the Board of Trade and shown several locations.

The concern have secured a patent on a new device for making horseshoes and have decided to place the goods on the market and are looking for a location to manufacture the same. The gentlemen stated that if a location could be secured there and satisfactory arrangements made it would mean employment for about two hundred men.

The same company of men were looking over Charleroi very recently with a view of locating here.

An order for the largest judgment ever entered by the Washington county court was made yesterday by Judge J. A. McElwaine in the case of the New York Trust Company, trustee, against C. Jutte and Co. and F. N. Hoffstad.

The defendant defaulted in a mortgage of $1,000,000 with instalments of interest due on April 1, 1906, as well as two instalments subsequently maturing and including the instalment of April 1, 1908. A hearing in the case was held yesterday, the defendant admitting the default and agreeing to the decree of the court for judgment in the entire amount specified in the mortgage, with interest.

The court directs the trustee to sell at public auction, in whole or in parcels, the land covered by the mortgage, also the steamers G. W. Thomas, Gleanor, Crescent and Charley Jutte, besides 2,000 shares of the Marine coal company. The land includes about 2,300 acres of coal lands in East and West Pike Run townships and Bealville borough. The date set for the sale is September 1, next. The mortgage was given by the Jutte company to secure $1,500,000 issues of bonds. It was executed June 9, 1903.

A story comes from U. S. Steel corporations circles in Pittsburg to effect that a can manufacturing plant is to be erected by the company immediately back of the tin plate mill in Monessen. A building covering about half the floor space of the large hot mill building is said to be contemplated.

The U. S. Steel corporation is adopting the policy of manufacturing tin cans in connection with the large tin plate plants in order to use surplus stock and to insure the steady running of the plants. One has been erected at New Castle and the next is projected for Monessen.

It is likely that from 300 to 500 will be employed by such an addition to the present plant. While they would be mostly boys and girls, the wages paid is said to be good. The cans for fruit canning purposes are made almost entirely by machinery, but many operators, sorters, packers, etc. will be required.

Almost since the erection of the Monessen plant 10 years ago the ground backlying has been used as a dump with a view of filling it in for a mill site. But not until recently was a can manufacturing plant thought of. That is what the site will undoubtedly contain in the very near future.

Needs of City Life.

President Roosevelt's letter on American rural life, addressed to Professor L. H. Bailey, the chairman of the newly appointed commission on this subject, suggests some things which where manifestly not in his thoughts while he was dictating it.
One of these (the most obvious, is
that the farmer and the farm laborer,
whom the commission is designed to help, are far less in need of help than many workers of the city. The president himself says that "the farmers
in general are better off today than they ever were before." Can this be said of the typical city worker?

The farmer is not asking investigation and advice as to his social and economic condition. He, of all classes in America, is not most likely to resent as impertinent anything
which seems to reflect upon his sufficiency in the role that he endeavors
with all the might of his commonsense and his muscle, to fill.

No power of direct help to the
farmer of the kind suggested in the president's letter reside in the national government. Of course the commission can inquire and can report information. But whether what it says is warranted by what will come out of it is doubtful. There are other directions in which inquiry
would probably be much more useful.

The growth of cities, wonderful as it is, is not going to abate. Forethought for city life must take this into account. It is absolutely necessary that the poor shall be less crowded in the city of the future, or rather
the city of today; that they shall
have more space about their dwellings; that there shall be broader
streets, more "breathing places," perfused by flowers and cooled by fountains, and that there shall be abundant playgrounds for the children.
These needs are at once unmistakable
and urgent.

The Exploitation of Thaw.

Eminent statesmen and jurists who
condemn the law's delays and the hardships to which the poor litigant is sometimes subjected will find food for reflection in the cost of the Thaw trial
not only to the city of New York, but
to the defendant in that celebrated
case. This man's life was saved, but
at a tremendous outlay of money,
says the Baltimore Sun. He is now resorting to bankruptcy proceedings
to avoid the payment of certain sums.
It is stated that his family has
already spent $800,000 and that additional demands are now made for $400,000. From all accounts Thaw
has been thoroughly exploited. To a man in the shadow of a death chair
money has no value. He would, unless he is made of very stern stuff,
eagerly part with all his earthly possessions to save himself from the extreme penalty of the law. But this fight for life seems to have been conducted on a very mercenary basis.
The one theme in the trial, which inspired unflinching respect and sympathy was the mother of the defendant. As for the rest, the spectacular melodramatic element predominated. The taxpayers of New York city have paid
an enormous sum to assert the majesty of the law. The defendant has captured the electric chair, but at a money cost which is staggering.
Here is a matter to which commentators on defects in jurisprudence might properly turn their attention.

Sankey Dead.

The loss of Ira D. Sankey, known
far and wide as "the singing evangelist," is today being mourned by thousands, yes, millions of people.
Sankey wrote perhaps more hymns
than any other man in the United States, and they are used in practically every church in the Union. He has done good seldom surpassed on this continent, and others as well, his influence being universally felt.

Jefferson Davis' Ambition.
Jefferson Davis was a man of most
sincere conviction and courageous action, and when the Southern Confederacy was about to be organized his
single ambition was the command of the Confederate army. This I had from his own lips at his residence at Beauvoir, Miss., some fifteen years after the war. He told me that when he started for Montgomery, Ala., when
the movement began for the organization of the Confederacy he hoped to be called to the command of the army,
but before he reached Montgomery he was advised of his election as provisional president. When he reached the new capital of the Confederacy
he found it impossible to change conditions, and he was compelled to accept the presidency, and he entered upon
that duty as conscientiously as any public man ever entered upon an official career.—Colonel A. K. McClure
in "Confederate Veterans."

A Yoga Story.
For fourteen years Bava Luchman
Dass received from the priests of the Black Caves of central India the necessary education in order to become a yogi, as a yoga must be capable of
taking the forty-eight postures of the Hindu idols. Perhaps the greatest trick consists in balancing himself on
the ends of his fingers while the whole
of his body is in the air. Bava stated that in order to obtain the rank of yogi in the Black Caves of India he had to continue in this position on the
ends of his fingers under the eyes of the judges, without a second's interval, for seven days and nights.—Strand
Magazine.

Low Necked Dresses.
In the early days of Pennsylvania
there was a law, as we learn from
documents in the state department,
which stated as follows: "That if any
white female of ten years or upward
should appear in any public street,
lane, highway, church, courthouse, tavern, ball, theater or any other place of public resort with naked shoulders
—i. e., low necked dresses—being able to purchase necessary clothing, she
shall forfeit and pay a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $200."

"It'd be intoxicated, too," said he.

Among the Exchanges

Another One.
John W. Sarver tendered his resignation to Governor Stuart, on Monday as Alderman in the First ward of Monongahela. The matter was acted on honorably, and yesterday he was licensed as a detective in Allegheny
county. Sarver was elected Alderman
at the February election 1907, defeating Ernest A. Foster by one vote. The election was contested and Sarver was
declared regularly elected by three votes. His commission was issued
May 6, 1907, and ends May 6, 1912.
There are several aspirants for the vacancy among whom are mentioned
W. T. Gregg and John H. Wiper.
Mr. Sarver is in Pittsburgh today taking out his commission. He will likely have an office at the rear end of the river bridge. He will look after the interests of several manufacturing
firms, also some of the mines.—Monongahela Times.

The Governor and Good Roads.

If it be true that Governor Stuart
will forego a vacation this summer
because of the demands of public affairs, the fact will not surprise those who know the man and the zeal with which he pursues whatever he
and statesmanlike ideas on many of the questions with which the Commonwealth is confronted. One of these is that of good roads.

His speech at Cape May on the subject in June, laying particular emphasis upon the need of a fine maca-
dam highway from end to end of the State, wide enough for both automobile traffic and the local use of the farmers, was practical as well as enthusiastic. He believes that the time is near when the hauling of farm products to the most convenient market will be largely done with motor trucks
and that the old time local commerce, which built up country seats and town centres and encouraged exchanges of values near the farm self, is in a fair
way to have a reawakening since the trolley and the motor-car have been so successfully developed.
Every moment for better highways
deserves to be commended. It is to the rural communities that the nation
must look for the solid foundation of its property. Too little attention
has been given to the economic significance of good roads.—Exchange.

DOWNWARD COURSE

Fast Being Realized by Charleroi People.

A little backache at first.
Daily increasing till the back is lame
and weak.
Urinary disorders quickly follow;
Diabetes and finally Bright's disease.
This is the downward course of kidney ills.

Richard Young, retired, living in Youngstown, Caonsburg, Pa., says:
"I suffered for a number of years with
attacks of backache always more severe if I contracted a cold. These backaches were caused by a disordered
condition of my kidneys and I was caused much annoyance in consequence.
I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and
began using them. In a very short time my kidneys were restored to perfect health and the backache banished.

The Mule's Delusion.

The pack mule is quite as much an institution as the team mule and is absolutely indispensable in the mountains. Mule packing is a fine art, and with a well trained animal and a skillful packer you can safely transport anything from a piano to a bag of oats. When the packer has finished his job in an artistic manner, the animal may buck or back, kick or rear or roll, but he cannot rid himself of his burden, and he finally gives it up in despair. After two or three experiences he will submit to his destiny and fall into line with the rest of the train every morning to receive his load from the packer. A well trained pack mule is always proud of his load, and if by any means it gets loose he will step quietly out of line and wait until the packmaster comes along to tighten it.

The most serious objection to the mule, which you sometimes find in human beings also, is the delusion that he can sing. One who has never heard a mule solo cannot appreciate the content of his mistake; but, like everything else about a mule, his song is strictly original. It belongs to no other animal. No one can describe and no one can imitate it.—New York Mail.

Mixed Pickles.

Bishop Knox once explained that "Mr McKenna's sword was an oversized pistol which, being hung up in a tight corner lest it should burst, pretended to be dead until it got up and trotted home on the friendly back of the Bishop of St. Asaph." But it is political debate, especially in the house of commons, that the mixed metaphor flourishes most luxuriantly. "The dog-gates of irreligion and intemperance are stinking and in this throughout the land." "This bill effects such a change that the last leap in the dark was a mere flea bite." "That is the marrow of the educational act, and it will not be taken over by Dr. Clifford or anybody else. It is founded on a granite foundation and speaks in a voice not to be drowned in sectarian clamor."
"The question of moisture in tobacco is a thorny subject and has long been a bone of contention."—Manchester Guardian.

A Chinese Superstition.

When Chinese baby takes a nap, people think his soul is having a rest—going out for a long walk perhaps. If the nap is a very long one the mother is frightened. She is afraid that her baby's soul has wandered too far away and cannot find its way home. If it doesn't come back, of course the baby will never awaken. Sometimes men are sent out into the streets to call the baby's name over and over again, as though it were a real child lost. They hope to lead the soul back home. If a baby sleeps while it is being carried, from one place to another, the danger of losing the soul along the way is very great. So whoever carries the little one keeps saying its name out loud, so that the soul will not stray away. They think of the soul as a bird hopping along after them.

A Fox's Stratagem.

A fox is bound to be a thief whenever he has half a chance to steal, says London Answers. He can no more help taking a goose than a badly trained cat can help taking a chop from the larder. There was a time for that when he was chained in a yard to keep him out of mischief, but he soon lilt upon a plan for seizing a stray duck or fowl. At the very farthest point to which his chain would reach he used to place a portion of his food and then hide himself in his kennel. In due course the silly chicken was sure to spy the bait and begin pecking at it. Before it had had time to enjoy its meal, however, the fox would pounce upon it and the stock of poultry be reduced by one.

When Not to Smoke.

It is quite certain that much may be done to diminish the risk of tobacco amblyopia by paying attention to certain points of personal hygiene. For instance, a rule should be made never to smoke upon an empty stomach, but as far as possible only after meals. It is absolutely bad to smoke before dinner and equally bad to smoke late at night to keep awake at one's work. It should also be forbidden to chew the cigar between the teeth, as many smokers are wont to do.—Hospital.

The Slippery Pronoun.

Many are the circumlocutions which have been devised by civilized races in order to avoid the bluntness of direct address. In fact, it may be said that at the moment when a nation standardizes its language it begins to have trouble with its pronouns.

"Thou" has of course become obsolete except in prayer, although it flourishes colloquially in the north of England. The second person plural is substituted. In parts of the south "you all" is heard, a further step toward refined elusiveness.

In France and Germany "thou" has been retained in familiar or semicontemptuous speech. In Spain and Italy, on the other hand, the third person is substituted habitually in place of it.—Harper's Weekly.

Touched.

Mrs. Homespun—The comic papers say you fellows never work. Weary Wadlee—Y'es'm; de comic papers also say dat mother-in-laws is a nuisance when everybody knows dat dey are de most sweetest an' angelic uv mortals. an'— Mrs. Homespun—You poor, dear man! Come right in this minute. I will broil a chicken for you.—Judge.

Her Compliment.

"Uncle Jehosaphat. I'm goin' to name my kitten after you."
 "Well, well, that is nice of you!"
 "Oh, it's all right. Mother says I've got to drown the thing anyhow."—Illustrated Bits.

ADVERTISEMENTS, SALE RUSH, CROWD, BARGAINS

Does it pay to advertise? Well, if anyone has the least doubt of the
above they need only to refer to the big sale being conducted by Kirk
and Clark at the store formerly occupied by M. Wells. From long before the hour of opening this morning
crowds were in front of the store
awaiting until the time when they could rush in and snap up bargains at unprecedented prices. The store was packed all morning and afternoon.
Two times this morning the doors had
to be closed to keep back the crowd.
As many clerks as there are more are needed to accommodate the crowd.
